 - (d) the service is provided to customers using an Internet carriage service, and any or all of the relevant Internet content is hosted in Australia.
- (8) For the purposes of this section, the relevant Internet content, in relation to an interactive gambling service, is Internet content that is accessed, or available for access, by an end-user in the capacity of customer of the service.

Part 3—Complaints system: prohibited Internet gambling content

Division 1—Making of complaints to the ABA

16 Complaints about prohibited Internet gambling content

- (1) If a person has reason to believe that end-users in Australia can access prohibited Internet gambling content using an Internet carriage service, the person may make a complaint to the ABA about the matter.

Content of complaint

- (2) A complaint under subsection (1) about particular Internet content must:
 - (a) identify the Internet content; and
 - (b) set out how to access the Internet content (for example: set out a URL or a password); and
 - (c) if the complainant knows the country or countries in which the Internet content is hosted—set out the name of that country or those countries; and
 - (d) set out the complainant's reasons for believing that the Internet content is prohibited Internet gambling content; and
 - (e) set out such other information (if any) as the ABA requires.

17 Complaints about breaches of online provider rules etc.

If a person has reason to believe that:

- (a) an Internet service provider has contravened a code registered under Part 4 that is applicable to the provider; or
 - (b) an Internet service provider has contravened an online provider rule that is applicable to the provider;
- the person may make a complaint to the ABA about the matter.

Section 18

18 Form of complaint

- (1) A complaint under this Division is to be in writing.
- (2) However, the ABA may permit complaints to be given, in accordance with specified software requirements, by way of a specified kind of electronic transmission.

19 Residency etc. of complainant

A person is not entitled to make a complaint under this Division unless the person is:

- (a) an individual who resides in Australia; or
- (b) a body corporate that carries on activities in Australia; or
- (c) the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory.

Division 2—Investigations by the ABA

20 Investigation of complaints by the ABA

- (1) The ABA must investigate a complaint made under Division 1.
- (2) Subsection (1) has effect subject to subsections (3) and (4).

Internet content hosted in Australia—referral of complaint to an Australian police force

- (3) If a complaint relates to Internet content hosted in Australia:
 - (a) the ABA must not investigate the complaint; and
 - (b) if the ABA considers that the complaint should be referred to an Australian police force—the ABA must:
 - (i) refer the complaint to a member of an Australian police force; and
 - (ii) give written notice to the complainant stating that the complaint has been so referred.

Frivolous or vexatious complaints

- (4) The ABA need not investigate a complaint if:
 - (a) the ABA is satisfied that the complaint is:
 - (i) frivolous; or
 - (ii) vexatious; or
 - (iii) not made in good faith; or
 - (b) the ABA has reason to believe that the complaint was made for the purpose, or for purposes that include the purpose, of frustrating or undermining the effective administration of this Part.

Notification of the results of an investigation

- (5) The ABA must notify the complainant of the results of an investigation under this section.

Section 21

Termination of investigation

- (6) The ABA may terminate an investigation under this section if the ABA is of the opinion that it does not have sufficient information to conclude the investigation.

Referral to Australian police force

- (7) The manner in which a complaint may be referred under subsection (3) to a member of an Australian police force includes (but is not limited to) a manner ascertained in accordance with an arrangement between the ABA and the chief (however described) of the police force concerned.
- (8) If a complaint is referred to a member of an Australian police force under subsection (3), the member may refer the complaint to a member of another Australian police force.
- (9) This section does not, by implication, limit the ABA's powers to refer other matters to a member of an Australian police force.

21 ABA may investigate matters on its own initiative

The ABA may investigate any of the following matters if the ABA thinks that it is desirable to do so:

- (a) whether an Internet service provider is supplying an Internet carriage service that enables end-users to access prohibited Internet gambling content hosted outside Australia;
- (b) whether:
- (i) an Internet service provider has contravened a code registered under Part 4 that is applicable to the provider; or
 - (ii) an Internet service provider has contravened an online provider rule that is applicable to the provider.

22 Conduct of investigations

- (1) An investigation under this Division is to be conducted as the ABA thinks fit.

- (2) The ABA may, for the purposes of an investigation, obtain information from such persons, and make such inquiries, as it thinks fit.
- (3) This section has effect subject to Part 13 of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992 (which confers certain investigative powers on the ABA).

23 Protection from civil proceedings

Civil proceedings do not lie against a person in respect of loss, damage or injury of any kind suffered by another person because of any of the following acts done in good faith:

- (a) the making of a complaint under Division 1;
- (b) the making of a statement to, or the giving of a document or information to, the ABA in connection with an investigation under this Division.

Division 3—Action to be taken in relation to a complaint about prohibited Internet gambling content hosted outside Australia

24 Action to be taken in relation to a complaint about prohibited Internet gambling content hosted outside Australia

- (1) If, in the course of an investigation under Division 2, the ABA is satisfied that Internet content hosted outside Australia is prohibited Internet gambling content, the ABA must:
- (a) if the ABA considers the content should be referred to a law enforcement agency (whether in or outside Australia)—notify the content to:
 - (i) a member of an Australian police force; or
 - (ii) if there is an arrangement between the ABA and the chief (however described) of an Australian police force under which the ABA is authorised to notify the content to another person or body (whether in or outside Australia)—that other person or body; and
 - (b) if a code registered, and/or a standard determined, under Part 4 deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters—notify the content to Internet service providers under the designated notification scheme set out in the code or standard, as the case may be; and
 - (c) if paragraph (b) does not apply—give each Internet service provider known to the ABA a written notice (a standard access-prevention notice) directing the provider to take all reasonable steps to prevent end-users from accessing the content.

Note 1: For Internet content hosted in Australia, see subsection 20(3).

Note 2: The ABA may be taken to have given a notice under paragraph (c)—see section 31.

- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c), in determining whether particular steps are reasonable, regard must be had to:

- (a) the technical and commercial feasibility of taking the steps;
and
 - (b) the matters set out in subsection 4(3) of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992.
- (3) Subsection (2) does not, by implication, limit the matters to which regard must be had.

Recognised alternative access-prevention arrangements

- (4) An Internet service provider is not required to comply with a standard access-prevention notice in relation to a particular end-user if access by the end-user is subject to a recognised alternative access-prevention arrangement (as defined by subsection (5)) that is applicable to the end-user.
- (5) The ABA may, by written instrument, declare that a specified arrangement is a recognised alternative access-prevention arrangement for the purposes of the application of this Division to one or more specified end-users if the ABA is satisfied that the arrangement is likely to provide a reasonably effective means of preventing access by those end-users to prohibited Internet gambling content.
- Note: For specification by class, see subsection 46(2) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
- (6) The following are examples of arrangements that could be declared to be recognised alternative access-prevention arrangements under subsection (5):
- (a) an arrangement that involves the use of regularly updated Internet content filtering software;
 - (b) an arrangement that involves the use of a filtered Internet carriage service.
- (7) An instrument under subsection (5) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

Part 3 Complaints system: prohibited Internet gambling content

Division 3 Action to be taken in relation to a complaint about prohibited Internet gambling content hosted outside Australia

Section 25

Referral to law enforcement agency

- (8) The manner in which Internet content may be notified under paragraph (1)(a) to a member of an Australian police force includes (but is not limited to) a manner ascertained in accordance with an arrangement between the ABA and the chief (however described) of the police force concerned.
- (9) If a member of an Australian police force is notified of particular Internet content under this section, the member may notify the content to a member of another law enforcement agency (whether in or outside Australia).
- (10) This section does not, by implication, limit the ABA's powers to refer other matters to a member of an Australian police force.

25 Deferral of action in order to avoid prejudicing a criminal investigation

- (1) If:
 - (a) in the course of an investigation under Division 2, the ABA is satisfied that Internet content hosted outside Australia is prohibited Internet gambling content; and
 - (b) apart from this subsection, the ABA would be required to take action under subsection 24(1) in relation to the content; and
 - (c) a member of an Australian police force satisfies the ABA that the taking of that action should be deferred until the end of a particular period in order to avoid prejudicing a criminal investigation;the ABA may defer taking that action until the end of that period.
- (2) Subsection (1) has effect despite anything in section 24.

26 Anti-avoidance—notified Internet content

- If:
 - (a) particular Internet content has been notified to Internet service providers as mentioned in paragraph 24(1)(b); and

- (b) the ABA is satisfied that Internet content (the similar Internet content) that is the same as, or substantially similar to, the first-mentioned Internet content is being hosted outside Australia; and
- (c) the ABA is satisfied that the similar Internet content is prohibited Internet gambling content; and
- (d) a code registered, and/or standard determined, under Part 4 deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters;

the ABA must notify the similar Internet content to Internet service providers under the designated notification scheme set out in the code or standard, as the case may be.

27 Anti-avoidance—special access-prevention notice

- (1) If:
 - (a) a standard access-prevention notice relating to particular Internet content is applicable to a particular Internet service provider; and
 - (b) the ABA is satisfied that the Internet service provider is supplying an Internet carriage service that enables end-users to access Internet content (the similar Internet content) that is the same as, or substantially similar to, the Internet content identified in the standard access-prevention notice; and
 - (c) the ABA is satisfied that the similar Internet content is prohibited Internet gambling content;

the ABA may give the provider a written notice (special access-prevention notice) directing the provider to take all reasonable steps to prevent end-users from accessing the similar Internet content at any time when the standard access-prevention notice is in force.

Note: The ABA may be taken to have given a notice under this section—see section 31.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), in determining whether particular steps are reasonable, regard must be had to:
 - (a) the technical and commercial feasibility of taking the steps; and

Part 3 Complaints system: prohibited Internet gambling content

Division 3 Action to be taken in relation to a complaint about prohibited Internet gambling content hosted outside Australia

Section 28

(b) the matters set out in subsection 4(3) of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992.

- (3) Subsection (2) does not, by implication, limit the matters to which regard must be had.

Recognised alternative access-prevention arrangements

- (4) An Internet service provider is not required to comply with a special access-prevention notice in relation to a particular end-user if access by the end-user is subject to a recognised alternative access-prevention arrangement (as defined by subsection 24(5)) that is applicable to the end-user.

28 Compliance with access-prevention notices

Standard access-prevention notice

- (1) An Internet service provider must comply with a standard access-prevention notice that applies to the provider as soon as practicable, and in any event by 6 pm on the next business day, after the notice was given to the provider.

Special access-prevention notice

- (2) An Internet service provider must comply with a special access-prevention notice that applies to the provider as soon as practicable, and in any event by 6 pm on the next business day, after the notice was given to the provider.

Note: For enforcement, see Part 5.

29 Notification of Internet content

Internet content may be notified in accordance with this Division by:

- (a) setting out the content; or
- (b) describing the content; or
- (c) in any other way.

30 Application of notifications under this Division

A notification under this Division applies to particular Internet content only to the extent to which the content is accessed, or available for access, from an Internet site, or a distinct part of an Internet site, specified in the notification.

Note: For specification by class, see subsection 46(2) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

31 ABA may be taken to have issued access-prevention notices

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), the ABA may, by written instrument, formulate a scheme:
 - (a) in the nature of a scheme for substituted service; and
 - (b) under which the ABA is taken, for the purposes of this Act, to have done any or all of the following:
 - (i) given each Internet service provider a standard access-prevention notice under paragraph 24(1)(c);
 - (ii) given each Internet service provider a special access-prevention notice under section 27.

- (2) It is a minimum requirement for a scheme formulated under subsection (1) that each Internet service provider be alerted by electronic means to the existence of a notice.

Note: For example, it is not sufficient for the ABA to make notices available on the Internet (with or without security measures) without notifying Internet service providers that a notice has been issued.

- (3) Paragraph 24(1)(c) has effect, in relation to a scheme under subsection (1), as if the reference in that paragraph to each Internet service provider known to the ABA were a reference to each Internet service provider.
- (4) An instrument under subsection (1) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

Part 4—Complaints system: industry code and industry standard

Division 1—Simplified outline

32 Simplified outline

The following is a simplified outline of this Part.

- A body or association that represents Internet service providers may develop an industry code that deals with the designated Internet gambling matters (see section 35).
- An industry code may be registered by the ABA.
- Compliance with an industry code is voluntary unless the ABA directs a particular Internet service provider to comply with the code.
- The ABA has a reserve power to make an industry standard if there is no industry code or if an industry code is deficient.
- Compliance with an industry standard is mandatory.

Division 2—Interpretation

33 Industry code

For the purposes of this Act, an industry code is a code developed under this Part (whether or not in response to a request under this Part).

34 Industry standard

For the purposes of this Act, an industry standard is a standard determined under this Part.

35 Designated Internet gambling matters

For the purposes of this Act, the following matters are designated Internet gambling matters:

- (a) the formulation of a designated notification scheme;
- (b) procedures to be followed by Internet service providers in dealing with Internet content notified under paragraph 24(1)(b) or section 26 (for example, procedures relating to the provision of regularly updated Internet content filtering software to subscribers).

Division 3—General principles relating to industry code and industry standard

36 Statement of regulatory policy

- (1) The Parliament intends that a body or association that the ABA is satisfied represents Internet service providers should develop a single code (industry code) that:
 - (a) is to apply to Internet service providers; and
 - (b) deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters.
- (2) The Parliament intends that an industry code developed, or industry standard determined, under this Part is to be in addition to any codes developed, or standards determined, under Schedule 5 to the Broadcasting Services Act 1992.
- (3) The Parliament intends that this Part does not, by implication, limit the matters that may be dealt with by any codes developed, or standards determined, under Schedule 5 to the Broadcasting Services Act 1992.
- (4) The Parliament intends that the ABA should make reasonable efforts to ensure that either:
 - (a) an industry code is registered under this Part before Part 3 commences; or
 - (b) an industry standard is registered under this Part before Part 3 commences.

37 Matters that must be dealt with by industry code and industry standard

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to set out the matters to be dealt with by an industry code or industry standard.

Matters that must be dealt with by industry code or industry standard

- (2) The Parliament intends that, for Internet service providers, there should be:
- (a) an industry code or an industry standard that deals with; or
 - (b) an industry code and an industry standard that together deal with;
- the designated Internet gambling matters.

Designated alternative access-prevention arrangements

- (3) An industry code or an industry standard may provide that an Internet service provider is not required to deal with Internet content notified under paragraph 24(1)(b) or section 26 by taking steps to prevent particular end-users from accessing the content if access by the end-users is subject to an arrangement that is declared by the code or standard to be a designated alternative access-prevention arrangement for the purposes of the application of this section to those end-users.
- (4) An industry code developed by a body or association must not declare that a specified arrangement is a designated alternative access-prevention arrangement for the purposes of the application of this section to one or more specified end-users unless the body or association is satisfied that the arrangement is likely to provide a reasonably effective means of preventing access by those end-users to prohibited Internet gambling content.

Note: For specification by class, see subsection 46(2) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

- (5) An industry standard determined by the ABA must not declare that a specified arrangement is a designated alternative access-prevention arrangement for the purposes of the application of this section to one or more specified end-users unless the ABA is satisfied that the arrangement is likely to provide a reasonably effective means of preventing access by those end-users to prohibited Internet gambling content.

Note: For specification by class, see subsection 46(2) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

Section 37

- (6) The following are examples of arrangements that could be declared to be designated alternative access-prevention arrangements:
- (a) an arrangement that involves the use of regularly updated Internet content filtering software;
 - (b) an arrangement that involves the use of a filtered Internet carriage service.
- (7) For the purposes of this Act, if an industry code:
- (a) deals to any extent with procedures to be followed by Internet service providers in dealing with Internet content notified under paragraph 24(1)(b) or section 26; and
 - (b) makes provision as mentioned in subsection (3);
- then:
- (c) the code is taken to deal with the matter set out in paragraph 35(b); and
 - (d) the code is taken to be consistent with subsection (2).
- (8) For the purposes of this Act, if an industry standard:
- (a) deals to any extent with procedures to be followed by Internet service providers in dealing with Internet content notified under paragraph 24(1)(b) or section 26; and
 - (b) makes provision as mentioned in subsection (3);
- then:
- (c) the standard is taken to deal with the matter set out in paragraph 35(b); and
 - (d) the standard is taken to be consistent with subsection (2).

Division 4—Industry code

38 Registration of industry code

- (1) This section applies if:
 - (a) the ABA is satisfied that a body or association represents Internet service providers; and
 - (b) that body or association develops an industry code that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters; and
 - (c) the body or association gives a copy of the code to the ABA; and
 - (d) the ABA is satisfied that the code provides appropriate community safeguards for the designated Internet gambling matters; and
 - (e) the ABA is satisfied that, before giving the copy of the code to the ABA:
 - (i) the body or association published a draft of the code and invited members of the public to make submissions to the body or association about the draft within a specified period; and
 - (ii) the body or association gave consideration to any submissions that were received from members of the public within that period; and
 - (f) the ABA is satisfied that, before giving the copy of the code to the ABA:
 - (i) the body or association published a draft of the code and invited Internet service providers to make submissions to the body or association about the draft within a specified period; and
 - (ii) the body or association gave consideration to any submissions that were received from Internet service providers within that period.
 - (2) The ABA must register the code by including it in the Register of industry codes kept under section 53.

Section 39

- (3) A period specified under subparagraph (1)(e)(i) or (1)(f)(i) must run for at least 30 days.
- (4) If:
 - (a) an industry code (the new code) is registered under this Part; and
 - (b) the new code is expressed to replace another industry code; the other code ceases to be registered under this Part when the new code is registered.

39 ABA may request code

- (1) If the ABA is satisfied that a body or association represents Internet service providers, the ABA may, by written notice given to the body or association, request the body or association to:
 - (a) develop an industry code that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters; and
 - (b) give the ABA a copy of the code within the period specified in the notice.
- (2) The period specified in a notice under subsection (1) must run for at least 120 days.
- (3) The ABA must not make a request under subsection (1) unless the ABA is satisfied that, in the absence of the request, it is unlikely that an industry code would be developed within a reasonable period.
- (4) The ABA may vary a notice under subsection (1) by extending the period specified in the notice.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not, by implication, limit the application of subsection 33(3) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
- (6) A notice under subsection (1) may specify indicative targets for achieving progress in the development of the code (for example, a target of 60 days to develop a preliminary draft of the code).

40 Publication of notice where no body or association represents Internet service providers

- (1) If the ABA is satisfied that Internet service providers are not represented by a body or association, the ABA may publish a notice in the Gazette stating that, if such a body or association were to come into existence within a specified period, the ABA would be likely to give a notice to that body or association under subsection 39(1).
- (2) The period specified in a notice under subsection (1) must run for at least 60 days.

41 Replacement of industry code

- (1) Changes to an industry code are to be achieved by replacing the code instead of varying the code.
- (2) If the replacement code differs only in minor respects from the original code, section 38 has effect, in relation to the registration of the code, as if paragraphs 38(1)(e) and (f) had not been enacted.

Note: Paragraphs 38(1)(e) and (f) deal with submissions about draft codes.

42 Compliance with industry code

- (1) If:
 - (a) a person is an Internet service provider; and
 - (b) the ABA is satisfied that the person has contravened, or is contravening, an industry code that is registered under this Part;the ABA may, by written notice given to the person, direct the person to comply with the industry code.
- (2) A person must comply with a direction under subsection (1).

Note: For enforcement, see Part 5.

Part 4 Complaints system: industry code and industry standard

Division 4 Industry code

Section 43

43 Formal warnings—breach of industry code

The ABA may issue a formal warning if an Internet service provider contravenes an industry code registered under this Part.

Division 5—Industry standard

44 ABA may determine an industry standard if a request for an industry code is not complied with

- (1) This section applies if:
 - (a) the ABA has made a request under subsection 39(1) in relation to the development of a code that is to:
 - (i) apply to Internet service providers; and
 - (ii) deal exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters; and
 - (b) any of the following conditions is satisfied:
 - (i) the request is not complied with;
 - (ii) if indicative targets for achieving progress in the development of the code were specified in the notice of request—any of those indicative targets were not met;
 - (iii) the request is complied with, but the ABA subsequently refuses to register the code.
- (2) The ABA may, by written instrument, determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers in relation to the designated Internet gambling matters. A standard under this subsection is to be known as an industry standard.
- (3) Before determining an industry standard under this section, the ABA must consult the body or association to whom the request mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) was made.

Note: See also section 52.
- (4) A standard under subsection (2) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
- (5) The Minister may give the ABA a written direction as to the exercise of its powers under this section.

Section 45

45 ABA may determine industry standard where no industry body or association formed

- (1) This section applies if:
 - (a) the ABA is satisfied that Internet service providers are not represented by a body or association; and
 - (b) the ABA has published a notice under subsection 40(1); and
 - (c) that notice states that, if such a body or association were to come into existence within a particular period, the ABA would be likely to give a notice to that body or association under subsection 39(1); and
 - (d) no such body or association comes into existence within that period.
 - (2) The ABA may, by written instrument, determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters. A standard under this subsection is to be known as an industry standard.
- Note: See also section 52.
- (3) A standard under subsection (2) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
 - (4) The Minister may give the ABA a written direction as to the exercise of its powers under this section.

46 ABA may determine industry standard—total failure of industry code

- (1) This section applies if:
 - (a) an industry code that:
 - (i) applies to Internet service providers; and
 - (ii) deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters;has been registered under this Part for at least 180 days; and
 - (b) the ABA is satisfied that the code is totally deficient (as defined by subsection (7)); and

- (c) the ABA has given the body or association that developed the code a written notice requesting that deficiencies in the code be addressed within a specified period; and
 - (d) that period ends and the ABA is satisfied that it is necessary or convenient for the ABA to determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters.
- (2) The period specified in a notice under paragraph (1)(c) must run for at least 30 days.
 - (3) The ABA may, by written instrument, determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters. A standard under this subsection is to be known as an industry standard.
 - (4) If the ABA is satisfied that a body or association represents Internet service providers, the ABA must consult the body or association before determining an industry standard under subsection (3).
- Note: See also section 52.
- (5) A standard under subsection (3) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
 - (6) The industry code ceases to be registered under this Part on the day on which the industry standard comes into force.
 - (7) For the purposes of this section, an industry code that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters is totally deficient if, and only if, the code is not operating to provide appropriate community safeguards in relation to the designated Internet gambling matters.
 - (8) The Minister may give the ABA a written direction as to the exercise of its powers under this section.

47 ABA may determine industry standard—partial failure of industry code

- (1) This section applies if:

Section 47

- (a) an industry code that:
 - (i) applies to Internet service providers; and
 - (ii) deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters; andhas been registered under this Part for at least 180 days; and
 - (b) section 46 does not apply to the code; and
 - (c) the ABA is satisfied that the code is deficient (as defined by subsection (7)) to the extent to which the code deals with one of the designated Internet gambling matters (the deficient matter); and
 - (d) the ABA has given the body or association that developed the code a written notice requesting that deficiencies in the code be addressed within a specified period; and
 - (e) that period ends and the ABA is satisfied that it is necessary or convenient for the ABA to determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers and deals with the deficient matter.
- (2) The period specified in a notice under paragraph (1)(c) must run for at least 30 days.
- (3) The ABA may, by written instrument, determine a standard that applies to Internet service providers and deals with the deficient matter. A standard under this subsection is to be known as an industry standard.
- (4) If the ABA is satisfied that a body or association represents Internet service providers, the ABA must consult the body or association before determining an industry standard under subsection (3).
- Note: See also section 52.
- (5) A standard under subsection (3) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.
- (6) On and after the day on which the industry standard comes into force, the industry code has no effect to the extent to which it deals with the deficient matter. However, this subsection does not affect:

- (a) the continuing registration of the remainder of the industry code; or
 - (b) any investigation, proceeding or remedy in respect of a contravention of the industry code or section 42 that occurred before that day.
- (7) For the purposes of this section, an industry code that applies to Internet service providers and deals exclusively with the designated Internet gambling matters is deficient to the extent to which it deals with a particular one of the designated Internet gambling matters if, and only if, the code is not operating to provide appropriate community safeguards in relation to that matter.
- (8) The Minister may give the ABA a written direction as to the exercise of its powers under this section.

48 Compliance with industry standard

If:

- (a) an industry standard that applies to Internet service providers is registered under this Part; and
 - (b) a person is an Internet service provider;
- the person must comply with the industry standard.

Note: For enforcement, see Part 5.

49 Formal warnings—breach of industry standard

The ABA may issue a formal warning if an Internet service provider contravenes an industry standard registered under this Part.

50 Variation of industry standard

- (1) The ABA may, by written instrument, vary an industry standard that applies to Internet service providers if it is satisfied that it is necessary or convenient to do so to provide appropriate community safeguards in relation to either or both of the designated Internet gambling matters.

Note: See also section 52.

Section 51

- (2) An instrument under subsection (1) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

- (1) The ABA may, by written instrument, revoke an industry standard.
- (2) If:
- (a) an industry code is registered under this Part; and

Division 2—Interpretation: interactive gambling service advertisement

61BA Basic meaning of interactive gambling service advertisement

- (1) For the purposes of this Part, an interactive gambling service advertisement is any writing, still or moving picture, sign, symbol or other visual image, or any audible message, or any combination of 2 or more of those things, that gives publicity to, or otherwise promotes or is intended to promote:
 - (a) an interactive gambling service; or

- (2) This section has effect subject to sections 61BB, 61BC, 61BD, 61BE, 61BF and 61BG.

61BB Exception—political communication

- (1) To avoid doubt, if:
 - (a) something (the advertisement) does not promote, and is not intended to promote, any particular interactive gambling service or services; and
 - (b) the advertisement relates solely to government or political matters;the advertisement is not an interactive gambling service advertisement for the purposes of this Part.

Section 61BC

- (2) Without limiting paragraph (1)(a), the use in an advertisement of the whole name of an interactive gambling service provider does not, of itself, constitute promotion of an interactive gambling service or interactive gambling services for the purposes of paragraph (1)(a).
- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply in relation to the use of a name referred to in that subsection in a way prohibited by regulations made for the purposes of this subsection.
- (4) Section 61BA does not apply to the extent (if any) that it would infringe any doctrine of implied freedom of political communication.

- (a) on the Internet site of an interactive gambling service that is provided to customers using an Internet carriage service, or on or at an equivalent point of provision of any other interactive gambling service; or
- (b) as part of the standard wording of an invoice, statement, order form, letterhead, business card, cheque, manual, or other document ordinarily used in the normal course of the business of an interactive gambling service provider (whether or not the document is in electronic form);

do not, when so appearing, constitute an interactive gambling service advertisement (but this does not prevent a still or moving screen shot of an Internet site or equivalent point of provision referred to in paragraph (a), or a still or moving picture or other visual image of a document referred to in paragraph (b), from being an interactive gambling service advertisement).

61BD Exception—premises of providers

Words, signs or symbols that appear in or on land or buildings occupied by an interactive gambling service provider do not, when so appearing, constitute an interactive gambling service advertisement (but this does not prevent a still or moving picture, or other visual image, of words, signs or symbols that so appear from being an interactive gambling service advertisement).

61BE Exceptions—management advertisements etc.

To avoid doubt, none of the following constitutes an interactive gambling service advertisement:

- (a) the doing of anything that is, or apart from this Part would be, required to be done by any other law of the Commonwealth or by any law of a State or Territory;

- (c) the taking of any action to prevent persons becoming victims of fraud or any other dishonest or unethical conduct.

61BF Exception—products or services having the same name as an interactive gambling service

(1) If:

- (a) apart from this section, something (the advertisement) that relates to a product, or a service, that is not an interactive gambling service would, technically, be an interactive gambling service advertisement because the name, or part of the name, of the product or service is the same as, or substantially similar to, the name, or part of the name, of:
 - (i) an interactive gambling service; or
 - (ii) an interactive gambling service provider; and
- (b) the manufacturer, distributor or retailer of the product, or the provider of the service, is not associated in any way with the interactive gambling service provider concerned;

then, despite section 61BA, the advertisement is not an interactive gambling service advertisement for the purposes of this Part.

Section 61BG

Related bodies corporate taken to be associated with each other

- (2) Without limiting the circumstances in which 2 persons would, apart from this subsection, be taken to be associated with each other for the purposes of subsection (1), 2 bodies corporate that are related to each other are taken to be associated with each other for the purposes of that subsection.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the question whether 2 bodies corporate are related to each other is to be determined in the same way as the question would be determined under the Corporations Law.

61BG Exception—anti-gambling advertisements

If:

- (a) apart from this section, something (the advertisement) would, technically, be an interactive gambling service advertisement; and
- (b) it is clear from the advertisement that its sole or principal purpose is to discourage the use of gambling services or particular kinds of gambling services;

then, despite section 61BA, the advertisement is not an interactive gambling service advertisement for the purposes of this Part.
